F25 [162] Long Street There is some doubt about the position of F25. At the 1851 census, C68 comprises 11 dwellings and occupies both sides of the yard next to Dolphin Inn. This leaves no room for F25. The 1786 plan shows F24 and F25 as two distinct plots. However, F25 does not appear on the 1825 Rate List and it seems that it was then part of F24 and owned by Henry White.

In 1547 F25 is shown as four ¼ burgages divided into four houses, owned by ‘the gilde’, combined with C68 and F26. In the 17th c. there were two properties at F25 of equal size which run together until at least 1663 and seem to be owned by the same family – Francis Browne and John Brown. At 1730 they are clearly separate, but lack of abuttal information makes it difficult to ascertain the point at which they split and the names of the occupiers. By the 19th c. F25 appears to have been absorbed into F24.
